Dear Hiring Manager,

It is my pleasure to recommend William Bunin for a programming position.

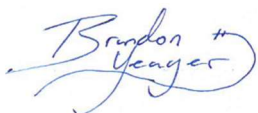

I am Brandon Yeager, the lead developer at BST Software Company. I have worked in this position for over five years, four of which I served as Will's direct supervisor.

Our main project at BST Software Company has been to build and maintain a point of sale system that is written using the Clarion programming language. Will started the position having no knowledge of the language. Despite this, after a short period, Will quickly became an expert in Clarion programming and likely one of the youngest in the world! Other languages that we use heavily in our projects include C#, C++, JavaScript, Python, and AutoHotkey. Will's ability to pick up new technologies has been one of his greatest assets.

Some other traits I'd like to highlight are Will's strong work ethics, consistent positive attitude, attention to details, and outside the box thinking. Will always accepted all tasks assigned to him and maintained a positive attitude throughout his career at our company. His positive attitude often lifted the spirits of coworkers working around him. Will especially excelled in his attention to detail and outside the box thinking, which gave him a huge advantage when tracking down bugs and coming up with creative solutions to fix them. These two qualities were also essential in the implementation of new features throughout all our projects. Will's contributions to the software can be felt throughout every screen and feature and he was instrumental in making BST Point of Sale one of the premier POS systems in the resale industry.

If given the opportunity, I would not for one second hesitate to hire Will back. He has been a great asset to our company, and I have no doubt he will be a great asset in whatever role he is to take on next in his career. Please feel free to contact me if you have any questions regarding Will's candidacy or past work.

Sincerely,
